

Privacy Policy

This Policy is not intended to override the terms of any contract that you have with you or any rights you might have available under applicable data protection laws.

We may make changes to this Policy from time to time for example, to keep it up to date or to comply with legal requirements or changes in the way we operate our business.

This Privacy Policy was updated on April 26th, 2020.

1. How we protect your personal data?

We endeavor to protect us and you from unauthorized access to or unauthorized alteration, disclosure or destruction of personal data that we hold.

In particular:

- We use encryption where appropriate;
- We use password protection where appropriate; and
- We restrict access to personal data to our employees, contractors and agents who need access to the relevant personal data in order to for them to process it for us and who are subject to strict contractual confidentiality obligations.

You are responsible for the personal data that you choose to share, disclose or submit voluntarily while using our website or devices and which can be viewed by members of third party applications or sites such as chat applications or messengers.

When you utilize third-party social media services, email, text messages etc. which you accessed via using our product, and to interact with other users or service providers and exchange personal contact, geographic location or track of traveling etc., please note that we cannot verify if such third-party services have made such information transmission to be fully encrypted. Please take care to protect the security of your personal data, and especially avoid sharing sensitive personal data when you're uncertain about the security of data transfer.

Please understand that due to the rapid development of computer and internet technologies, various measures of attack may exist or be created, whether vicious or not, which renders no applications or internet transmission to be 100% secure. While we continuously take reasonable technical, administrative, and physical measures to protect the information you provided, we still may not be able to guarantee absolute security of your information at all times. Where the relevant information and data collected is stored on your device, security is also dependent on your device's own secure storage functionality. You should also take care to protect the secrecy of your account user name and password and to protect the information stored on your device.

2. Who is responsible for looking after your personal data?

We is a internet company focusing on internet application services. As we is the company which was originally responsible for collecting information about you, it will be the data controller. You should be aware that although we may be principally responsible for looking after your personal data, information may be held in databases which can be accessed by other our group our affiliate companies.

3. What personal data do we collect?

1. Personal data or information we get from your use of our product and service

We collect information about the product and services that you use and how you use them in order to properly provide the core or important features of our product and service, or to improve our product and service, or to provide additional features to our product.

- Provide our product and services, including our app and related website (if any), and improve them over time;
- Allow you to download and purchase products and services;
- Personalize and manage our relationship with you, including introducing you to products or services that may be of interest to you or to provide customer support;
- Investigate, respond to, and manage inquiries or events;
- Work with and respond to law enforcement and regulators; and
- Research matters relating to our prod and business, such as security threats and vulnerabilities, or conducting internal audit, data analysis, and research.

2. Cookies and tracking technologies

We may use technologies cookies and web beacons - please see our separate Cookie Policy attached as an appendix of this Privacy Policy for further details on cookies.

3. Your information which we obtain or receive from third parties

We may obtain or receive from third parties your account information (including not be limited to account avatar, nickname etc.) which you've allowed them to share, and thereby binding your account at the third parties with your personal account in our product and service, and allowing you to directly log into (or by hyperlink) our account via the third party account to use our product and service. We may also, where it is allowed by applicable law or according to your agreement with third parties, obtain other types of your information from third parties.

We will use aforesaid information of yours according to our agreement with relevant third parties, and also in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. We will take commercially reasonable measures to make sure these third parties provide such information as a legitimate source.

4. What are your rights?

You have a number of rights in relation to your personal data. In summary, you may request access to your data, rectification of any mistakes in our files, erasure of records where no longer required, restriction on the processing of your data, objection to the processing of your data, data portability and various information in relation to any automated decision making and profiling or the basis for international transfers.

5. Contact and complaints

If you have any issue arising from this Policy, including requests to exercise data subject rights, you can contact us.

If you have a complaint or concern about how we use your personal data, please contact us in the first instance and we will attempt to resolve the issue as soon as possible.

5. Appendix

1. We or our third party partners may collect and use your information via tracking technology such as Cookies, which information may be stored as log information.
2. We use such technologies to provide more tailored services and user experiences, and for purposes such as remembering your account identity or analyzing your account's security; analyzing your usage of our product and service; advertisement optimization (helping us to provide you with more targeted advertisements instead of general advertisements based on your information). We may also process and summarize the non-personal data collected via tracking technology and provide the same to advertisers or other partners to be used to analyze how users use our services and for advertisement purpose.
3. There may be tracking technology placed by advertisers or other partners in our products and service. Such tracking technology may collect the non-person information related to you for the purpose of analyzing how users use the services and sending to you the advertisements you might find interest in, or evaluating the effects of the advertisements. Collection and use of such information via third party tracking technology will not be subject to our Privacy Policy, but will be subject to third-party privacy policies applicable to the users, and we will not be liable for the third-party Cookies or web beacon.
4. You may use browser and personal device settings to refuse or manage tracking technology. However, for technical reasons beyond our control, this cannot be guaranteed. For example, if you reset your browser, delete your cookies or access to our website or applications from another browser or device, your cookie settings may be lost.
5. You shall be aware that when ceasing to use Cookie or other tracking technology, you may not be able to enjoy the best service experiences, or parts of our product or service may no longer function correctly (please contact us in case of any such problems). Furthermore, you may still receive the same amount of commercial information such as advertisements which will have lower relevancy to you.